The Justice Theatre Project (www.justicetheatreproject.org) is performing "A Line in the Sand" June 6,7,8,13,14 & 15 at Cardinal Gibbons theatre. This is the final performance of the 2007/8 JTP season which was focused on immigration.

At our June meeting we will be focusing on lessons learned from the Cullen Larson discussion and looking at our next steps for achieving our Goals and Objectives. Please attend if you can.

I am going to speak to you simply as a pastor, as one who, together with his people, has been learning the beautiful but harsh truth that the Christian faith does not cut us off from the world but immerses us in it, that the church is not a fortress set apart from the city. The church follows Jesus who lived, worked, struggled and died in the midst of a city, in the polis. It is in this sense that I should like to talk about the political dimension of the Christian faith in the precise sense of the repercussions of faith on the world and also of the repercussions that being in the world has on faith.

-Archbishop Oscar Romero
